Zenith edition-II Launch

Entrepreneurship is a challenging journey that requires hard work, determination, and dedication.

And to celebrate this spirit of student entrepreneurs CWE launches its coffee table book Zenith edition-II on the 6th of April 23 in the AV room.

Two eminent entrepreneurs, Shreya Ghodawat and Sangeeta Kamat, shared their experiences and insights into the world of entrepreneurship. Additionally, speeches from studentpreneurs Karishma Chhabada, Riya Barredo, and Shruti Gupta, as well as Rama Venkatachalam and Abhradita Navi, provided valuable lessons learned and wisdom.

Shreya Ghodawat, a young entrepreneur from Pune, started her first business at the age of 17 and collaborated with brands for her second startup. She focused on sustainability and conducted research in Southeast Asia, where she traveled and wrote about her experiences. Her goal was democratical consistency, and despite facing losses, she emphasized that entrepreneurship provides the freedom to make your own path and build networks with peers.

On the other hand, Sangeeta Kamat started her first business venture at 25 and found the freedom to pursue her passion after becoming a widow. She learned from bankruptcy in her 30s and advised that having a clear value of the idea, knowing the target audience, and finances are critical to a successful business.

Total 25 studentpreneurs, 20 faculties and 70 students attended the programme. In conclusion, the speeches from successful entrepreneurs and studentpreneurs provided valuable insights into the world of entrepreneurship. They highlighted that passion, hard work, and dedication are critical to building a successful business. Additionally, having a clear vision, knowing the target audience and finances, and learning from failures are crucial components of entrepreneurship. Building networks, taking calculated risks, and never stop learning are also vital for anyone who wants to succeed in this field.
